

YOUNG PEOPLE OF TODAY PROTECT YOUR FUTURE AND THAT OF THE YOUNG PERSON OF TOMORROW.

Young people of today;
If you could avoid vain problems,
 Against your next.
To avoid the vain ones pole Mize,
Stop your major hatred with regard to certain groups.
 If you could be poor, and proud to be it,
Of what you have, not make of it a capacity,
 Of your desires, not to be avid
Until the day when will be labelled in your face,
 Innumerable wrinkles.
If you could be rich and banish the injustice;
 Of share your unit,
 Being humble and not proud;
 Be generous and not egoist;
 Be honest and not corrupter;
Be disappointed, struck and without word statement;
 Adopt the voice of the tolerance
 Which is in fact the voice of the wise ones?
Then you will acquire the regard of the world.
 To appear will be only virtual;
 You and me, as in a ritual,
 Let us in a uniform voice,
 Say no to the violence.
If you and us, people of the ground,
 By the will of God,
 The day at the following day
 Could bury the hatchet,
 Walk hand in the hand,
 In unity and solidarity,
 The love, service and fraternity,
 Untimely, be as this dove
 Which flies over the firmament of the world?
No matter what immonde with the sounds of the West-Indian tropical drums,
 The Balaphons and the African tom-toms,
 And the irresistible symphony of Mozart.
 So us races of the ground,
 Blacks, reds, yellows and white,
 Let us in a dash of solidarity,
Protect our future and that of the young person of tomorrow,
 Cherish the layer of ozone by which we have the life.
 Preserve the beauty and the splendour of our planet,
 Against this adversary which is:
 Climatic change.
