Notes: The table reports OLS estimates. The unit of observation is a county. The dependent variable in Column 1 to 4 is Besley, Persson and Sturm (2010)'s party-neutral measure of political competition, computed as (minus) the absolute value of the difference between average vote share of the Democrats in all statewide elections and 50. The sample average is -24.67. A higher value indicates more competition. "County antiquity in 1790" is the log of the difference between 1790 and the county original incorporation date (+10 to correct for negative values for counties that did not yet exist formally in 1790). The sample average is 2.71. "Newspapers pc 1840" is the average number of daily, bi- and tri-weekly newspapers in the county, per 100,000 people. The sample average is 8.58. "Prop. SI 1790" is the proportion of Scots-Irish settlers in the 1790 county population. All regressions are with a constant. Robust standard errors are reported in brackets.  significantly different from 0 at the 1% level,  significantly different from 0 at the 5% level, * significantly different from 0 at the 10% level.

Notes: Robust standard errors. P-values in parenthesis. “Prop. SI” denotes the proportion of Scots or Irish settlers in the 1790 county population. “DS” stands for Deep South. Interaction with Border South included but not reported for economy of space.

FIGURES

Figure A1: Residuals of equation (3) and residuals of a regression of county antiquity in 1790 on the proportion of Scots-Irish settlers

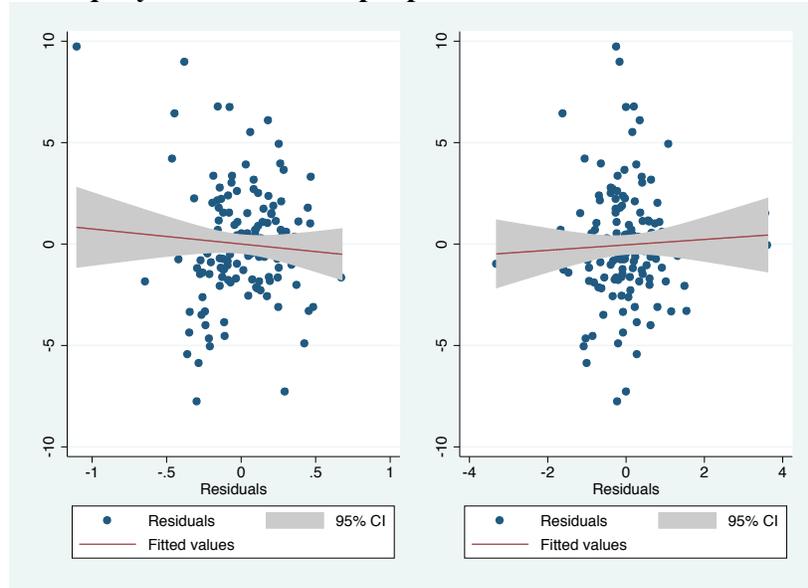

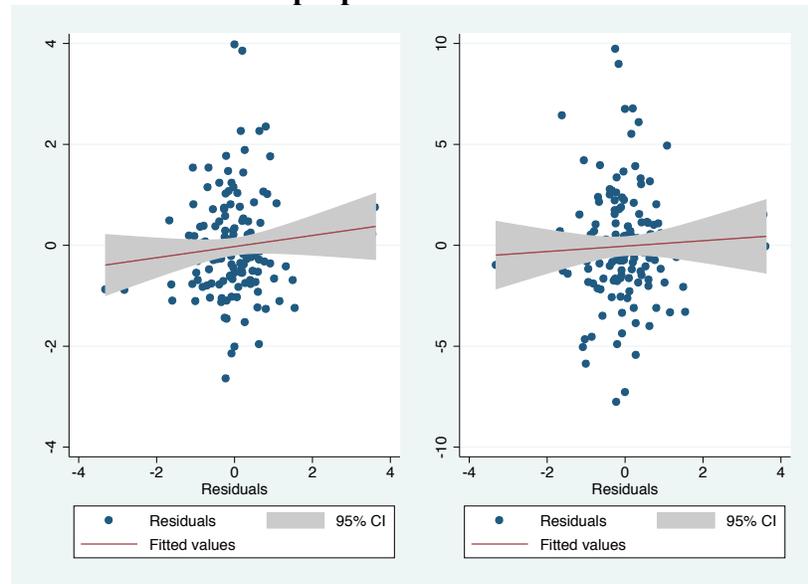

Figure A2: Residuals of equation (3) and residuals of a regression of newspaper pc in 1840 on the proportion of Scots-Irish settlers

Notes: in each plot, the left panel is when the dependent variable in equation (3) in the main paper is the total homicide rate, the right panel when it is the white offender homicide rate. All the regressions control for the full set of controls described in the paper.
